

Creating and Sustaining Positive Futures

MAKING CONNECTIONS

2009
Everybody has a role to play

NOVEMBER 4, 5, 6, 2009

Making Connections 2009 is the 12th Annual Conference focusing on school-wide positive behaviour support. Thursday includes a keynote session with Dr. Rob Horner and sessions on a variety of topics that address the theme "everybody has a role to play". On Friday, the conference features sessions that integrate research and practice examples. The session topics include: the connection between academic skills and social responsibility; alternatives to suspension; social skills instruction; supporting the implementation of school-wide systems; the relationship between families and schools and providing support at the individual level. There will also be a full day session on Getting Started with PBS presented by Tom Schimmer as well as a full day session on BOATS: Behaviour, Observation, Assessment, Teaching and Strategies presented by Brenda Sautner. This conference welcomes participants from across western Canada including community partners in education, parents, child care workers, teaching assistants, teachers and administrators. Come and join us for a thoughtful and rewarding learning experience.
